SETTING THE TABLE

In March, 2004 City Council member Letitia James brought together hundreds of residents with Local architects and designers, politicians and local businesspeople, to begin a new discussion on the Yards. This event was the birth of the Atlantic Yards Development Workshop.

We are creating a model for development that invites all stakeholders to the table from the beginning.

The Workshop has looked at the issues of housing, ecology, public space, traffic, retail, infrastructure, etc...
And now all of those ideas have taken shape in the following proposal.
